Specifically, on January 25, 2014, the offender was arrested by the Toms River, New Jersey, Police Department and charged with driving under the influence of alcohol. According to the police report, and by account of the offender, he was stopped while driving shortly after leaving his girlfriend's residence, after police observed him failing to maintain a proper lane. Field sobriety tests were administered, which he failed to pass, and he was given a Breathalyzer test which indicated a 0.12 BAC. The case remains pending and a court date of July 16, 2014, in Toms River Municipal Court has been scheduled.

U.S. Probation Officer Action:

At this point in time, the offender remains under the close scrutiny of the undersigned officer. He has been randomly tested for substance abuse, including alcohol since the aforementioned arrest, and found to have been testing free of any ongoing substance abuse. Additionally, he has been instructed to complete a Lifeskills Book, which will provide the offender with additional insight on the perils of substance abuse. We believe that an increase in the frequency of testing, as well as requiring the offender to complete the workbook, shall suffice as a sanction at this time. We will inform the Court immediately of any additional information as the circumstances arise, and/or any filing of criminal charges against the offender. We would request that the Court take no action at this time.
